Good Morning NHTSA Recalls Portal User,

This message announces that we have updated the recall reporting forms (i.e., Part 573 forms) to provide enhanced instruction on what information is wanted in describing the products being recalled, the safety risk, and other information elements in the forms. Specifically:

- The forms now include tool tips providing the citation and text of the recall regulation that applies to a specific portion of the form.

  ![New tool tips provide the corresponding regulation:]

- The forms include a prompt in the Descriptive Information field to support reporting, where applicable, of break-out figures that detail the number of units included in each group of recalled products.
  - For example, if your recall contains 2 different vehicle combinations, you would enter “3,250 Model A vehicles are affected” in this field (along with the other applicable descriptive information). You would then add the specific number of units for the other vehicle combination in its respective Descriptive Information field.

  - The Descriptive Information field and its new prompt should not be used to circumvent the reporting of multiple products. Please do not use the Descriptive Information field in this manner. Please continue to use the “Add Product” function to add additional products.
These changes have been made on all forms for vehicle recalls and equipment recalls.

Should you have any questions regarding these changes, please don’t hesitate to email us at recalls.helpdesk@dot.gov.

Thank you,
