

- [REDACTED] (Apr 16, 2009 2:09 pm)

#457 of 464

Re: 09 Corolla Won't Start [REDACTED] by [REDACTED]Apr 16, 2009 (2:09 pm)

Replying to: [REDACTED] (Apr 16, 2009 2:04 pm)

She got the lower spoiler. Yea, I think it was expensive. She's very happy with the car even tough it's not the little red sports car she wanted. Good luck with yours and be safe and enjoy!

- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]

#458 of 464

Re: 2009 Corolla brake noise [REDACTED] by [REDACTED]Apr 23, 2009 (10:05 am)

Replying to: [REDACTED] (Feb 11, 2009 4:14 pm)

I had the same grinding noise when braking somewhat hard while driving forward. I finally took it to the dealership yesterday. They said the rotors were discolored and replaced them and the pads and also lubricated the calipers. My guess is there is a problem with the calipers and this will happen again. I had the car since June, it only has 13kmiles. This $465 brake job was done under warranty.

- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]

#459 of 464

2009 Corolla Weird Idle when i am braking plz read by [REDACTED]Apr 23, 2009 (6:03 pm)

hey guys. ok. my car has 5,900 miles on it. i purchased it in Sept 08. i do the oil changes my self and all of that, but it has nothing to do with it, because the problem i am experiencing has been happening since i got the car.

ok what happens is when the car is warmed up and i am driving lets say i am coming to a stop the rpms drop to about 600 and the car almost feels like it is going to die, i let go of the brake and the rpms go back up. i can do this repeatedly if i want to. no matter how fast or how slow i drive, when i press on the brake just before i come to a complete stop the care idles very weird... it like shakes, feels like i am driving a stick but my car is automatic...

i took it to the dealer and the dealer drove it and the guy said he did not experience anything and the car did not give out any codes or whatever.

has anyone experienced this issue ??

it pisses me off because it is a NEW car and i should not have this idle problem and feel it all the time when i am coming to a stop....

any help would be appreciated

thanks guys

- [REDACTED]

- ■
- ●
- ●
- ●

Replies to this message:

- [redacted] (Apr 23, 2009 8:10 pm)
 - [redacted] (Apr 24, 2009 5:08 am)
 - [redacted] (Apr 24, 2009 5:54 am)

#460 of 464

Re: 2009 Corolla Weird Idle when i am braking plz read [redacted] by [redacted]
Apr 23, 2009 (8:10 pm)

Replying to: [redacted] (Apr 23, 2009 6:03 pm)

Yes that is weird. And I can understand your feeling the way you do. Why don't you take it back again to either the same dealer or a different Toyota dealer and YOU drive while they sit and experience what you say you can duplicate at anytime?

- ●
- ■
- ●
- ●
- ●

Replies to this message:

- [redacted] (Apr 24, 2009 5:08 am)
 - [redacted] (Apr 24, 2009 5:54 am)

#461 of 464

Re: 2009 Corolla Weird Idle when i am braking plz read [redacted] by [redacted]
Apr 24, 2009 (5:08 am)

Replying to: [redacted] (Apr 23, 2009 8:10 pm)

sorry i forgot to mention i did drive it and the mechanic came with me and it did what i said it did, it idled weird when i would press the brake to come to a stop, the mechanic was like i dont feel anything, im watchin the rpms and they have not gone below 500 so there is no problem. but thats bs because i have never had a car do this. i hate toyota.

- ●
- ■
- ●
- ●
- ●

Replies to this message:

- [redacted] (Apr 24, 2009 5:54 am)

#462 of 464

Re: 2009 Corolla Weird Idle when i am braking plz read [redacted] by [redacted]
Apr 24, 2009 (5:54 am)

Replying to [redacted] (Apr 24, 2009 5:08 am)

Well, as some posters on this thread would love to tell you I do differ totally when it comes to your opinion of Toyota as I am a big fan of Toyota, but that is not important here. What is important is it sounds like you deffinitely have some kind of problem with your new car. I wouldn't get too upset though as it does sound like something that could be taken care of when you find a technician that will cooperate with you. I wouldn't settle for that technician's opinion and would raise a fuss and ask to speak to the service manager. Ask him to take you in another 2009 and see if that car also has this weird idle. I know mine doesn't ! Please keep us informed as to how you make out.

-
-
-
-
-

#463 of 464
rattles & low idle by Apr 24, 2009 (6:37 am) i have read this in previous postings, and now it is happening to me too...i have a 7-month old 09 corolla S which makes rattles...it did not start until when it got to around 6k miles (it now has 9K on it)...it is coming from the front, but definitely not from the engine...very prominent when driving at low speed, but once i get to 50 mph+, it is not much noticeable...yes, it is annoying!!!!...but i'm afraid to take it back to the dealer coz they might make it worse!....it also has a problem with very low idling that it feels like it will shut down everytime i come up to a stop light...i still have not taken it back to the dealer for this, maybe they can up the rpm a little bit...(gotta take it checked by the dealer b4 the warranty expires).....

-
-
-
-
-

Replies to this message:

-  (Apr 24, 2009 6:47 am)

#464 of 464
Re: rattles & low idle  by
Apr 24, 2009 (6:47 am)

Replying to:  (Apr 24, 2009 6:37 am)

Well you should get these items taken care of but you do have plenty of time until your warranty expires (36 months/36000 miles). Many of the rattles you refer to were minor and taken care of by the dealer when returned for warranty. The idle on the other hand I am hearing more and more about. II have no answer for this but I really suggest you take it back to the dealer and be sure it is taken care of. Your car should not feel like it's gonna stall when you brake.

-
-
-
-
-

Messages Page 47 of 47

- 1
- ...
- 41
- 42
- 43
- 44
- 45
- 46

Go To Msg #

Search This Discussion